

Field Mycology

Field Mycology is a quarterly publication produced by the British Mycological Society, available as an open access online journal and in printed magazine format. It covers all aspects of fungal identification, recording, collection and conservation, catering to all levels of expertise.

It focuses primarily on the wild fungal diversity of the British Isles, including the United Kingdom, the Republic of Ireland, the Isle of Man, and the Bailiwicks of Guernsey and Jersey (Channel Islands). Reports and examples of the practice of field mycology from elsewhere may also feature, where they are of relevance and interest to the field mycology community. However, articles describing taxa which are new to science will only be considered for publication if their holotypes were collected within the British Isles.

Views expressed are not necessarily those of the Editorial Panel or the British Mycological Society. The society is a registered charity (no. 276503).

The Editorial Team will be reviewing and updating these instructions over the course of 2025. In the meantime, authors are encouraged to look to the back issues of Field Mycology for inspiration and examples of typical article style, structure and formatting.

Authors are welcome to contact the Editorial Team, via the email address above, with any pre-submission enquiries. In the case of articles dealing with taxa that are new to science or new to the British Isles, the Editorial Team requests that a pre-submission enquiry is made in advance of submitting the manuscript, so that consideration can be given to suitability for publication in Field Mycology and any necessary arrangements for scientific review.
